The SCOOP

Upping the skin ante and the body holds the cure. By Charlotte Cole

UNDER THE SKINFLUENCE »

You don't always have to head to Harley Street to find fantastic solutions for your skin. Welcome to Skinfluencer, co-founded by the immensely passionate Sharin Shafer, who has invested in bringing the most advanced technologies combined with a top-class team to a boutique set-up on the Fulham Road. You'll find machines here not found in W1 and skin protocols that go far beyond the pick and mix of the traditional aesthetic menu. This is because Sharin's mission is personal: suffering from melasma, she tried treatment after treatment and was never happy with her skin. Realising there were many women like her left dissatisfied, it was her vision to create a world-class global skincare destination that could address pretty much any concern, and leave women (and men) liberated from concealing conditions that they felt couldn't be helped. The Fulham boutique is the first: there are plans for others. Even if you just want a brighter complexion, a tightening of skin and a boost of confidence, the team will expertly identify what you need. Starting with a skin scan as standard, a programme is put together that is time-minimal and gives us natural results. It's aesthetics done differently. It's the future. skin-fluencer.com
